THE STORY

> Departure becomes the impossible place where two people finally meet. Timing is cruel, but the space left behind reveals what was always real. Some people become clearest the moment they walk away, as if distance were the only light strong enough to show them. How many times have you understood what someone meant to you only after the door had closed?

LYRICS

After You Left

VERSE 1

I met you after you left
Still had rain on your sleeve
You said my name like a dare
Like you knew what it did to me
I was two steps too late
You were already gone
Then you turned back around
And the whole room came undone

PRE-CHORUS

I should've known better
Than to let that moment pass
Your eyes hit mine and I
Fell straight through the glass

CHORUS

After you left, I found you
After you left, you found me
After you left, we were closer
Than we ever got to be
After you left, I held on
To the space between your hands
After you left, I knew it
I was never just a chance

VERSE 2

There was a chair by the door
And your coat on the back
I kept watching your mouth
For the words that I lack
You laughed like a red light
I ran through anyway
One second I was alone
Then you blew that dark away

I should've known better
Than to let that moment pass
Your eyes hit mine and I
Fell straight through the glass

CHORUS

After you left, I found you
After you left, you found me
After you left, we were closer
Than we ever got to be
After you left, I held on
To the space between your hands
After you left, I knew it
I was never just a chance

BRIDGE

Maybe timing was cruel
Maybe fate was just slow
All I know is your silence
Made my whole body glow

FINAL CHORUS

After you left, I found you
After you left, you found me
After you left, we were closer
Than we ever got to be
After you left, I held on
To the space between your hands
After you left, I knew it
I was never just a chance
