THE STORY

> A name found in an old notebook, where the pages shook — every truth that never made it from my heart into your hands, still floating somewhere in the wind. Unsent words do not vanish; they wait between old pages, gathering weight with every year, keeping the past unfinished. Which letter are you still holding that someone deserves to read?

LYRICS

Letters Never Sent

VERSE 1

I found your name in an old notebook
Written where the pages shook
Words I tried but never said
Quiet thoughts inside my head
Every line I tried to write
Disappeared into the night
Every letter left behind
Was a piece of you and I

Some words stay locked inside
Some goodbyes never arrive

CHORUS

These are letters never sent
Every word I never meant
To keep buried in the past
While our moments fade so fast

These are letters never sent
Every truth that never went
From my heart into your hands
Just like everything we planned

VERSE 2

Empty coffee cups and rain
Memories I can't explain
Every page I try to turn
Left another bridge to burn
Time keeps moving silently
But your shadow stays with me
Every road I tried to take
Still leads back to our mistake

Some old dreams never end
Some lost words never mend

CHORUS

These are letters never sent
Every word I never meant
To keep buried in the past
While our moments fade so fast

These are letters never sent
Every truth that never went
From my heart into your hands
Just like everything we planned

SPOKEN BRIDGE

Sometimes the hardest words
Are the ones we never say
And sometimes silence
Is the longest letter of all

FINAL CHORUS

These are letters never sent
Written where the silence went
Every memory we knew
Still remembers me and you

These are letters never sent
Floating somewhere in the wind
Maybe someday they will find
A way back through time
