THE STORY

> A message for the one who needed to hear it today. Not every song tries to fix something. Some only make a little space and leave it open for whoever needs to sit down and breathe. If this finds you tired today, can you let yourself rest without needing to explain why?

LYRICS

If This Finds You

If this finds you tired,
you don't have to explain.

Let the room stay quiet.
Let the night keep your name.

You made it this far.
That is enough for now.

I don't know where you are
when this reaches your hands.
Maybe on the floor,
maybe trying to stand.

Maybe in the middle of a day that asked too much.
Maybe holding yourself together
with silence and touch.

I won't tell you to be stronger.
I won't tell you what to do.
I only made a little space
and left it here for you.

If this finds you,
let it stay beside you.
You don't have to become light
just to make it through.

If this finds you,
when the world feels far away,
take one breath inside the sound.
You are still here today.

If this finds you...

One breath...
today...

There are doors you never opened
because you had no hands left.
There are words you never answered
because the weight took your breath.

And maybe nobody noticed
how much you had to carry.
But I hope this sound arrives
where your own voice got buried.

I won't ask you for a story.
I won't ask you to be fine.
Some roads are only crossed
one quiet step at a time.

If this finds you,
let it stay beside you.
You don't have to become light
just to make it through.

If this finds you,
when the world feels far away,
take one breath inside the sound.
You are still here today.

If you cannot move yet,
let the minutes move instead.
If you cannot hope yet,
let the music hold the thread.

Not every ending shouts.
Not every healing shows.
Some mornings come quietly
before anybody knows.

If this finds you,
let it stay beside you.
You don't have to become light
just to make it through.

If this finds you,
when the world feels far away,
take one breath inside the sound.
You are still here today.

If this finds you tired,
you don't have to explain.

Stay with the sound.
One breath.
Today.
