THE STORY

> There are evenings when another person's presence makes the world feel gentler. Silence becomes comfortable, the hours loosen, and the need to be elsewhere quietly disappears. Being together feels simple enough to believe in, at least for the length of a rainy night. Could belonging begin with the feeling that, for once, you do not have to leave?

LYRICS

Stay Right Here

VERSE 1

You watched the rain run down the window.
I watched you watching it instead.
You said you should be leaving soon now.
I said stay a while, and you said.

PRE-CHORUS

You took your jacket off but slower.
I noticed, didn't say a thing.
You caught me watching, didn't stop you.
I liked the way that silence rings.

CHORUS

Stay right here, don't make a sound.
Stay right here, let the rain fall down.
Nowhere else that I would rather be.
Stay right here, and stay with me.

VERSE 2

You said the rain won't stop till morning.
I said that's fine by me tonight.
You pulled the blanket up between us.
I turned toward you, turned off the light.

PRE-CHORUS

You traced a pattern on my shoulder.
I felt it long after you stopped.
You said you weren't in any hurry.
I said good, then let it drop.

CHORUS

Stay right here, don't make a sound.
Stay right here, let the rain fall down.
Nowhere else that I would rather be.
Stay right here, and stay with me.

OUTRO

Stay with me.
Don't leave.
